

VICTIMS OF MANY LAWSUITS

They Tire of Being Dragged from One Justice Court to Another.

JUDGE KEYSOR IS ASKED TO GRANT RELIEF

Eva and Eric Johnson Go Into Court and Allege that They are Being Persecuted Instead of Being Prosecuted.

Judge Keysor issued a restraining order late Tuesday night in a case which seemed to break the record in this city for persecution under the guise of legal procedure. The order was issued upon the application of Eva and Eric Johnson and restrains Ada Hart, Alice Priestner, guardian ad litem; F. E. Munn, attorney for the two women; S. B. Clark, constable, and Benjamin E. Hart, a justice of the peace, from taking any action in a case now pending in East's court, in which the Johnsons are defendants and Ada Hart, by Alice Priestner, guardian ad litem, are plaintiffs.

It is alleged in the petition filed in the case that the Johnsons have been the victims of a malicious prosecution at the hands of the defendants. It was emphasized by the Johnsons that they defend a multiplicity of suits brought in different justice courts on the same cause of action, and have been compelled to pay the costs in the cases after they have been dismissed without prejudice in order to have the dismissal entered in the docket of the justice.

According to the statements contained in the petition, the first suit was started in Justice Crosby's court, April 3, being a suit for $45.50, alleged to be due Ada Hart from the Johnsons for work in the case. May 6, the defendants asked for a change of venue to Justice Foster's court and the change was made after the Johnsons had paid the court costs amounting to $9.25, the case being set for hearing May 9. When the day arrived, the plaintiff dismissed the case, but two days later started another case before Justice Kirk of Florence in the name of the guardian ad litem, Priestner, the amount sued for being the same as before, and for the same cause, the case being transferred to Justice Wilson.

Again the defendants asked for a change of venue and it was granted upon the payment of court costs amounting to $9.30, the case being transferred to Justice Wilson, who set the hearing for May 22, when it was again dismissed by the plaintiff. Before the justice would enter the dismissal upon the docket, however, he demanded the payment of $2.05, which was paid by Johnson.

On the same day a third suit was started against the Johnsons by the same parties before Justice Crosby, the amount sued for in this case being $65.50, an increase of $20. The Johnsons filed an answer in this case with a counter claim for $75. The defendants also asked for a change of venue to Justice Long, and this was granted upon payment of $2.05 by the Johnsons. This case came up for hearing before Justice Long June 20, but before it proceeded the justice demanded the payment of $1.80 fees, which was paid by Johnson, and the case proceeded, resulting in judgment being entered in favor of the defendant in the original case, a judgment being entered against Ada Hart in the sum of $75 on the counter claim. An execution was issued against the Hart woman and was returned unsatisfied.

After this proceeding, the petition alleges, the Johnsons were served with notice that a suit had been started against them in Justice East's court on the 26th ult. for $80 for work and labor.

By this time the Johnsons had come to the conclusion that they had had all the fun they wanted, after paying court fees amounting to $22.50, and giving a judgment for $75 which was worthless, and they applied to Judge Keysor to put a stop to the amusement the other side was having. They informed the court that they had no possible basis there was for a claim against them by the Hart woman was the fact that the latter had contracted to work in the drumming establishment of Mr. Johnson for the term of six months and had violated her contract; that Mr. Johnson had nothing whatever to do with the agreement; that instead of owing the Hart woman money, Mrs. Johnson had been damaged by her actions to the extent of $75, as was shown by the judgment; that all of the defendants were insolvent and that the judgment against them would be useless; that the defendants, Hart, Priestner and Munn, had threatened to continue indefinitely to bring a multiplicity of suits against them, and Judge Keysor thereupon issued the restraining order restraining all of the defendants from taking any further action in the case pending before Justice East, and set the hearing upon the application for an injunction for July 11, in equity court No. 7, at 9:30 a. m.

Asking for a Divorce.

Sarah C. McArdle has applied to the courts for a divorce from John F. McArdle on the grounds of adultery and cruelty. She informs the court that she was married to McArdle in Omaha in May, 1887, and that five children have resulted from the marriage. In February, 1895, she alleges she discovered proof that her husband was unfaithful, and on June 28 of this year, she further informs the court, he was guilty of extreme cruelty and violence, and she alleges that he has been beating her, and that she has been in fear of her life. She asks for a divorce and the custody of her children.

Mattie Dunbaugh Informs the Court.

Mattie Dunbaugh informs the court that she was married in Holdrege, Neb., in 1888 to John P. Dunbaugh, and that one child was born to her, now 6 years of age. More than two years ago, she informs the court, Dunbaugh deserted her and she says she is ignorant of his whereabouts. Wherefore, she wants a divorce and the custody of the child.

POSTPONED MAKING THE ARREST.

Big Revolver Has the Desired Effect on a Policeman.

Henry Avery is accused of raising several kinds of trouble late Tuesday night, using a big six-shooter and a very ferocious look. He is a colored man living at 314 North Thirteenth street.

The revolver and the look got in its work about 10 o'clock, and William Carter received the benefit of both. Carter is also a colored man. He has had some trouble with Avery, but it was of such small importance that he had no hesitation in making an arrest. When he arrived at the house Avery was at home.

"This is a fine evening, Mr. Avery," remarked Carter.

"What a night, you git," was Avery's answer.

Carter, upon consideration, came to the conclusion that there was really no good moral reason why he should "git," but nevertheless, "git" he did. He accounts for his action by the fact that when he saw Avery's face he recalled that it was beset with a ferocious expression. The fact that he was looking down into the eyes of a man who never had some effect upon Carter's departure.

Carter hunted up Policeman Mike Drummy, and gave him an account of Avery's action. The officer determined to make an investigation and immediately started on a hunt for the colored man. He had no trouble in finding him. He was at home.

"Mistake, Policeman," answered Avery. "You git."

He had backed up against the side of the house. His features were overcast with the same ferocious expression which had affected Carter. It was emphasized by the fact that he was unconformably near the officer's face.

Officer Drummy rapidly decided in his mind that discretion was the better part of valor, and allowed Avery to escape. A warrant for his arrest, however, was issued yesterday.

IS AIMED AT THE CHIEF'S FEES.

Meaning of the Resolution Introduced by Councilman Caldwell.

A great many people who read the council proceedings do not understand what Councilman Caldwell meant by his motion that hereafter all of the reports of the police judge be referred to the finance committee. Mr. Caldwell will attempt to save the city the 50 cents now paid to Chief of Police Brennan out of every fine imposed by the police judge. Under the former administration it was deemed in order to save a straight salary of $50 per month for a street commissioner to pay the chief of police a salary of $50 per month.

In order that he might receive compensation the mayor and council ordered that he be paid 50 cents out of every fine. This was done all through Mayor Johnston's administration and so far in the present administration.

The charter provides that the chief of police be paid a salary of $75 a month and no other compensation as fees, etc. It was this section that called Mr. Caldwell's attention to the matter. The amount of fees now turned over to the chief under the existing arrangement amounts to about $5 a month, or in the neighborhood of $60 a year, while the city is saving the salary of a street commissioner. It is Caldwell's intention to have the finance committee consider the matter.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Since the order of the Bureau of Animal Industry directing that all cars in which dead animals have been hauled be thoroughly disinfected, there has been a diminution of diseased animals, amounting to 40 per cent. Formerly when hogs died at the leading point they were thrown in with the live animals and upon reaching here were sent to the rendering works and brought on an average 1 cent a pound. The cars which hauled these animals were sent back without being cleaned and disease spread rapidly. The cars are now fumigated under the supervision of Major Davis, sanitary inspector for the Department of Agriculture. Two men are in use at the present time. One is to force steam at a pressure of 100 pounds into the car and the other is to first cleanse the car thoroughly with a solution of 200,000 parts of the sides and bottom with sulphuric acid. Cars in which dead animals have been hauled are not overhauled, papers are put under them after they have been fumigated. This rigid inspection and fumigation will continue until October 1. The railroads now take kindly to the police, but at first there was considerable friction. Considerable additional expense is attached to this cleaning, especially to the roads who do not have suitable side tracks here and who are compelled to pay other roads for hauling their cars. It has been found that the disease among hogs has been checked to a large extent by the use of the cars and shippers are consequently well pleased.

OMAHA MAN KILLED NEAR CALHOUN.

Fell from a Bridge and was Crushed Beneath the Wheels of a Wagon.

Word was brought to the city last night by Sheriff Claus Menke of Blair that a Jewish peddler named Herman Sugerman had been accidentally killed a short distance out of Fort Calhoun yesterday afternoon. Sugerman was driving his heavily laden wagon across a bridge near the town when one of the wheels slipped over the side and he and the rig were precipitated to bottom of a deep ravine. In falling the wagon fell on top of Sugerman, killing him, the body being badly crushed. From papers in the possession of the dead man, it was shown that he resided in this city, at 702 South Thirteenth street. The man, who resided at the above number, was known as L. Sugerman, instead of Herman, and has a cousin in this city, by the name of S. Sugerman, living at 1203 Douglas street. The last named party has been charged with the murder of Sugerman. He stated that L. Sugerman left the city Tuesday, and that he had said upon his departure that he would be back in the surrounding country. S. Sugerman left last night for the scene of the accident and will take charge of the body. The corner of Washington county was notified and after impelling a jury late last night returned a verdict of accidental death. Sugerman was a married man, but his wife and children at present are in the old country.

POMPEY DREW ANOTHER CROWD.

Pyrotechnic Display More Brilliant Than the Last.

Pompey fell again last night and there was a good sized crowd in attendance to witness the fall. It fell with a blaze of fireworks more brilliant than on any of the previous occasions. Vesuvius appeared to be more in earnest than usual and the set pieces were also an improvement over those previously seen. The crowd, which moved across the front, swinging his trunk and waving his hat was an especially taking crowd, and the display, the huge rockets and others were no less attractive. The entire pyrotechnic display was better than on previous nights and the management has done well in getting everything into perfect working order.

There was a very good crowd in attendance, the majority of the seats being packed. The attendance included a considerable number of bicyclists, it being wheelmen's night. The wheels were checked by the management, so that all the riders had to do was to take in the stories that were being unfolded to them.

The performance went off very smoothly from the first. The happy people began their merry-making, and they were all huddled in the ruins of the magnificent city. The program of acrobatic feats, the majority of which were of the most thrilling and applauded, as were also the horse races.

A little daughter of Mr. Lewis Dayton, an old and much respected citizen of Blair, Pa., occasionally has a trouble with her stomach which gives her considerable distress. In a speaking of it, Mr. Dayton said: "As soon as she has an attack, I give her a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and it has never failed to cure her. I have given it to many of our family with the same good results." For sale by all druggists.
